The animated discussion of the ques The animated discussion of the question all day yesterday brought out an abundant crop of charges against one faction or another, and partisans of both sides did not hesitate to intimate that there were interests other than those having to do purely with good roads who were taking a hand in the general squabble. For a short time yesterday afternoon the lobby of the Jefferson resembled a good-sized point ical convention, and politics all but obscured the scientific discussions going on in the auditorium upstairs.

Retired Georgia Planter's Advice to Kidney Sufferers

Regarding the wonderful curative merits of your Swamp-Root I cannot say too much. After suffering severely for three years or more with severe pains caused by weak kidneys, I was finally induced to try Swamp-Root through a testimonial I read in one of the newspapers. I was in such a condition that I was obliged to arise from my bed six or eight times every night. I purchased a fifty-cent bottle, and before it was used I felt so much relief that I purchased a one-dollar bottle, and by the time this was taken the old pains had left my back and I could sleep the whole night through. I am a retired the whole night through. I am a retired planter, 70 years of age, and owing to Dr.
Kilmer's Swamp-Root I am in the best of health and feel like a boy. I am always glad to recommend Swamp-Root to those who are in need of it.

Engineers and Contractors.

The interdependence of engineers and contractors and their relation to the problems of road construction formed the topic of discussion at the afterneon session. The engineers' side was presented by the first speaker, onward Bates, past president of tho American Society of Civil Engineers. The engineer, thought Mr. Bates, should be entrusted with absolute supervision over every piece of road supervision over every piece of road construction, if the best results are construction.

Berlin, November 21.—The government to-day instructed its representatives in China to institute inquiries into the circumstances surrounding the murder at Sian Fu, China, of Philip Manners, a German subject, who was employed in the Chinese postal service. The steps to be taken later will depend upon the reports received.

London, November 21.—For the past ten days Dr. Sun Yat-Sen, the famous leader of the revolutionary movement in China, upon whose head the Chinese government set a price of $59,000, has been staying in London. He brought his visit to a close yesterday when he left here for China.

was the man whose word is obeyed by hundreds of thousands of adherents throughout China.

In company with Sun Yat-Sen was General Homer Lee, the American soid dier and author, who holds the rank of Heutenant-general in the Chinese army, and is the chief military adviser of the revolutionary committee.

Two Chinese secretaries made up the party at the hotel. When seen at the railway station Sun Yat-Sen refused to say a word.

Among the few friends who were at the station to see him off on his long journey was Dr. Cantile, of Harley Street, who has known the Chinese revolutionary leader for many years. As he walked on the platform. Dr. Sun looked worn and fatigued. His cheeks were hollow and his brows puckered.

In the course of Sun Yat-Sen's visit to London he had interviews with prominent men concerned with military and naval affairs, shipbuilding and finance. As to the results of these interviews Sun Yat-Sen's visit to Prominent men concerned with military and naval affairs, shipbuilding and finance. As to the results of these interviews Sun Yat-Sen is said to have expressed himself highly satisfied. Every day he received long cabiegrams from rebel leaders in China, and sent back advice and instructions. He went freely about West End streets and paid several visit to Dr. Cantile in Harley Street. He spent most of yesterday with Dr. Cantile, and the same day went to a private view of waxworks at Mme. Tussaud's.

Peking, November 21,—The killing of foreigners at Sian Fu, Shen-Si province, has been further confirmed by two Chinese students who have arrived from that city. During the fighting in Sian Fu a mob attacked the China Inland Mission, located outside the city. They murdered Mrs. Beckman, said to be un American, and five of the mission children. Mr. Beckman was wounded, but escaped, saving an infant. The surviving foreigners were sheltered by Chinese Christians and subsequently departed eastward toward the river.

Shanghai, November 21.—The so-called national convention being held in Shanghai is really only a small gathering of eight or nine delegates, whose authority is doubtful. They have organized the Republican party and appointed a committee to prepare a pattern. The lenders say the convention proper will open November 27.

A large number of fugitive missionaries are arriving at Shanghai. Everywhere it is the same story of determination on the part of the reformers, vaciliation on the part of the reformers, vaciliation on the part of the Imperialists, poverty and starvation of militions of people in the interior, crueitles and reprisals.
